CITY ITEMS.

DEPARTURE OF JENNY LIND .- JENNY LIND left this city yesterday morning in the Reindeer, Capt. DESCOT, for Albany. She has a superb day to eajey, for the first time, the scenery of the Hudson Highlands.

THE BANK FOR SAVINGS IN THE CITY or New-York .- The Trustees of this Institution of New York.—The Prusices of this Institution have just presented their annual statement to the Common council, from which it appears that they have received from 33,594 depositors, from the ld January to 31st December, 1850, the sum of 18, 224, 504 40, of which number 8,819 are new acounts, and 24,775 are redeposits. The sum of $1.991.234 66 has been drawn out by $1,152 depositors, of whom 6,251 have closed their accounts. The Bank has been in operation 31 years, during which me it has opened 132,327 accounts, and received time it has opened issued accounts, and received altogether, from depositors, $32,702,931 43 to which add microst up to January I, 1850, making $33,793, 41 21; closed during same period, 91,327 accounts, and paid out $30,109,751 42 leaving 41,000 accounts entitled to this balance, $6,386,243 22, which averages $155 08 to each account.

STREET MEETINGS .- This manner drawing popular attention to measures of public becoming quite the vogue again in this City. On Wednesday evening, at the intersection of First and Houston-st., a large audience listened to popular harangues from several prominent speakers upon Temperance, Land and other reforms. Among the speakers we noticed William V. Barr, Dr. W. J. Young, Mr. Smith, of the Eleventh Ward, and others.

THE MONTGOMERY GUARDS.-This fine corps of citizen soldiers, commanded by Capt. Murply, intend making a visit to Albany and Troy on the 19th of this month. Great preparations, we understand, are being made by the Emmett Guards o Albany, and the crack companies of Troy, to give Montgomery Guards such a reception as their well-carned reputation justly merits.

JOHN H. CHAMBERS, Clerk pro tem Abstract of the Sioux Treaty. The St. Paul (Min.) Democrat gives the following synopsis of the recently formed Sioux

Treaty:

Perpetual peace. The cession of all the Sioux Rands east of Sioux River and Lac Traverse. The line then runs up the head-waters of Otter-tail Lake, thence down from the head of Watab River to the Mississippi. The cession embraces the entire Valley of the Minnesota and the eastern tributaries of the Sioux River, and is estimated to contain 21,000,000 acres. The Indians reserve for a home a tract on the Upper Minnesota, columencing at Lac Traverse, and running about 100 miles south, down to the mouth of the Yellow Medicine, and 20 miles wade, on each side of the river.

we rejoice, in common with the great mass of our fellow-citizens, and many thousands who contempate emigrating to Minnesota, that a treaty has been made, and that the magnificent valley of the Minnesota will soon furnish happy homes to thousands of our own progressive race.

In a merely selfish point of view, the citizens of st. Paul and vicinity have reason to be gratified, for the opening of the Sioux country for settlement will soon inevitably make our town the most important commercial city on the Mississippi River, above St. Louis

The treaty contains one capital provision, which will create a new and happy policy in our govern-mental intercourse with the Indian tribes. The treaty provides, in effect, that no ordent spirits shall be sold or taken upon the land ceded, till authorized by Congress. If this be adhered to it will not only save the white population to be located on the ceded lands from the blighting curse of intemperance, but also the Indians on the frontier.

MINNESOTA.

Minnesom is, to travelers from Europe, a region of great interest and attraction. Almost every steamboat brings up foreigners of education who are traveling, for excitement, information and pastime. Last week, a scion of English nobility, a son of Lord Norton, after having passed some weeks in the Territory, went below. He is a young gentleman of prepossessing appearance, and had the good sense to demean himself in as plain a style as the plainest Republican. He and a Mr. Noakes, an English gentlemen of education, undertook to make a trip to Selkirk, whence they intended to cross to Lake Superior in the Fall, and return to England via Halitax. In pursuance of their intentions, they purchased two road wagons and four horses. The wagons were fitted up with all the fancy arrangements for convenience. One was covered and made waterproof. On each side of the inside of the box was a case containing a rife and other deadly weapons, to kill the "wild deer, and the buffalio, and the bloody Indians." They had, in short, all the traps for camping out, and cutting and fighting their way through to Selkirk. Off they started, aided by stout men to do the hard work, and excited by the novelty and romance of the enterprise. But as soon as they got out of the settlements, which happened somewhere above Sauk Rapids, their oppressed wagon-wheels began to stick in the mud, or sink hubdeep in the soaked and spongy hollows of the graine. Their horses began to fag out, the musketos to bute, and they to think that there wasn't so much romance, or sport affer all, in that sort of enterprise. So, tired out with fatigue, they got back to our lown, looking like Selkirk anaters, and were glad to sell out their wagons, horses and traps at a great sacrifice. With pack-horses, or some light conversance like the Red River carts, they could have made the journey without difficulty.

House Rents, &c.—Vacant houses are hard to find, and consequently rents are very high. A small shop, or office, 15 by 20 feet square, on any of the improved streets, will rent readily at from $610 $10 per month. A one-story building, situated in any part of town, containing four rooms, each say 12 feet square, with or without a cellar, pump or cistern, will rent for from $12 to $16 per month. As a general rule, the rent of a small dwelling for two years will pay all the cost of its building. Rents cannot fall until the supply more nearly approximates the increasing demand for tenements. The lumber and building material market is much better stocked than sometime and, so that the pressing demand for buildings will be more readily supplied. Buildings are erected in $1. Statistics of the Different Denominations. THE EDITORS OF THE NEW-YORK TRIBUNE : Will you give me leave to correct one of Mr. Robinson's tables of figures, in his address published last Wednesday. I refer to his enumeration of the different Denominations, as follows:

For the whole of New-York State, Mr. Grosh puts down Society-members at about 3,000, and Church-members at 192. These figures are taken from The Universalist Companion and Almanac for 1848. Yet New-York has more Universalist Societies than any other State in the Union. Of course it would be unfair to compare Universalists, Catholics, and other denominations, by their respective communicants. We must take the number that attend upon the worship of each, as I have done in the above tables. The disparity between the Roman Catholics and Protestant Churches their vanishes, or is reversed in the and Churches then vanishes, or is reversed in the latter's favor.

The D'Arusmont Case.—After a continuation of six days, Judge Tilden concluded his elaborate and ingenious argument in this interesting case, on Saturday morning last. In the course of the argument he stated (and we only give it on the authority of adverse counsel) that the real cause which led to the separation of the parties in this suit, was that Mrs. D'Arusmont had attempted to so educate and mold the character of the daughter that she might in her future career carry out the prospects of her illustrious mother. This, it was stated, was repugnant to the feelings and sentiments of the daughter and husband, and was the prominent cause of the difficulties with Mrs. D'Arusmont, and subsequent divorce, which was granted in Tennessee. It appeared by the admission of the defense, that the twenty acres of land in the vicinity of this city, and which was reduced to the possession of Mr. D'Arusmont, is now valued at fifty or sixly thousand dollars. We only refer to these in passing, as interesting points, occurring in the course of this argument.

He claimed that this estate now in contest was valued at one hundred and fifty thousand techtors.

The Indians, consisting of the united tribes of the Chippewas, Ottawas and Pottawattamies, who had their home in Sheboygan and Maintouwor Counties, in this State, have finally consented to remove to the West of the Mississippi. The whole number, (640), including men, women and children, passed through Beaver Dam on Thursday. We had an opportunity to see the whole company pass, and a more motley-looking crew was never gathered. Falstaff's famous regiment was no comparison; but occasionally one of their companies was brought up in the rear by one of those savage-looking Indians, with a tomanawk in his belt, a rifle in his hand, and with a gleam of ferceity from his eye which would call to mind the Indian as he was in the days of King Philip. We understand that no small share of their peaceable regioval is due to the good management and address of our late townsman, Solomon Juneau, who has acquired no trifling influence among these tribes. They go by the Columbus route to the Mississippi.
